In January 2005 GFOA released the new edition of its classic "Blue Book," Governmental Accounting, Auditing, and Financial Reporting (GAAFR). The new edition has been thoroughly updated and revised to reflect all of the latest developments in public-sector accounting and auditing. In this two-hour, interactive Internet training seminar, a combination of lecture and exercises will permit participants to explore the broad range of guidance offered in the latest GAAFR, with special emphasis placed on critical changes affecting the practical application of authoritative accounting and financial reporting standards.

Speaker: Stephen J. Gauthier, CPA

Mr. Gauthier is the Director of the Technical Services Center for GFOA. He is responsible for GFOA's Certificate of Achievement and Budget Awards Programs, and has authored many GFOA publications, including GAAFR; Evaluating Internal Controls; and several titles in GFOA's Elected Official's series. He also serves as the editor of GFOA's GAAFR Review newsletter, and is a regular speaker at GFOA's training sessions, including the Annual Governmental GAAP Update Satellite Videoconference and various Internet seminars.
